RE-PUBLICATION OF

The London Quarterly Review,

The North British Review,
The Westminster Review,

Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine.

The above Periodicals are reprinted in New York immediately on their arrival by the British steamers, in a beautiful clear type, on fine white paper, and are full fac similes of the originals—BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE being an exact fac simile of the Edinburgh Edition.

They embrace the views of the three great parties in England—Tory, Whig and Radical—'Blackwood' and the 'London Quarterly' are Tory, the 'Edinburgh Review' Whig and the 'Westminster Review' Radical. The North British Review is more of a religious character having been originally edited by Dr Chalmers, and now, since his death being conducted by his son in law Dr Hanna associated with Sir David Brewster. In literary character it is of the very highest order.

EARLY COPIES.

A late arrangement with the British publishers of Blackwood's Magazine secures to us early sheets of that work by which we shall be able to place the entire number in the hands of subscribers before any part or of it can be reprinted in any of the American Journals. For this and other advantages secured to our subscribers we pay so large a consideration that we may be compelled to raise the price of the Magazine. Therefore we repeat, 'subscribe early while the price is low.'

Remittances and communications should be always addressed post paid or franked, to the publishers.

Daily and Courier.

John S. Sprague, Editor.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1848.

☞ There are various propositions started for the disposition of the public lands belonging to the United States; among them is that of selling them only to actual settlers and at the lowest possible sum which will defray the expense of removing the Indians and bringing the land into market

This is the only disposition which should be made of the lands and the wonder is that public opinion is not at once formed and expressed to Congress by petition in behalf of this measure If our people would have our government work out for mankind the best result of which it is capable—would have it perform the highest uses to humanity, and secure the blessings of liberty in the largest degree, to the largest number, then it should dispose of the public lands only to actual settlers and to them at the smallest possible cost—

The great mass of the toilers—the great heart and muscle of any country—would then be the owners, as well as the tillers, of the soil which they improve by their labor, and baptize with their sweat, and are ready to sanctify with their blood

The present mode throws the land, in large quantities, into the hands of speculators, of men not interested in the soil beyond the profits they can get out of those who wish to settle upon and improve the same

It is said that the Americans love land and liberty, and it would be well if the people generally, would take this matter into consideration and determine that the public lands should only pass into the possession of actual settlers, and into their possession upon terms which to them, shall be practicable and easy

☞ The experiment of the last winter, of the practicability of running a steamboat regularly between Portland and Frankfort, has been highly satisfactory to the public Travellers have been accommodated with comfortable and speedy passages between the Penobscot river and Portland, instead of the tedious hard rides over long and uneven roads to which they would otherwise have been subjected But we learn that the experiment has not been to the pecuniary advantage of the proprietors of the boat, There has been no money made in the operation, although the boat has been fortunate—has not lost a trip—has not met with an accident—and the weather during the winter been remarkably favorable for the enterprise The growing travel and perhaps a trifling addition to the fair we trust will encourage the enterprize of maintaining a boat during the next and every subsequent winter until the railroad from this city to Portland is completed

☞ The Hallowell Cultivator has expressed doubts as to the bravery or humanity of Mr Young who conveyed Dr Coolidge from Augusta to Thomaston The Thomaston Gazette speaking of its own knowledge of the character of Mr Young, declares him to be a man of cool courage, and of humane feeling. He has been particularly attentive to the Doctor during his sickness in prison

☞ The Belfast people are making gigantic efforts to extend the railroad from Waterville to that town They hold conventions, bring out their speakers, and get their Capitalists to step forward in the enterprise A little of the same kind of spirit in this city would secure us a road in two years. How long shall the subject be delayed?

☞ Mr Wakefield advertises to lecture at Market Hall this afternoon on the Magnetic Telegraph This will afford a fine opportunity for those attending the public schools, and the price is so low as to tempt a large company Mr W understands his subject and makes all the operations of the telegraph as clear as noon We advise our people to attend.

There are seventy Printing Offices in Boston, and three type and stereotype foundries The whole number of persons in that city connected with the business of printing is more than one thousand This includes presses, compositors, female type setters, power press tenders, &c

☞ We would call the attention of our readers to the card of Mr Joseph P Jackson, who has commenced a new in the line of furnishing his customers with elegant clothes and trimmings for their garments Mr Jackson is an excellent workman, and his present facilities will enable him to please all his friends who avail themselves of his good taste and his good skill

☞ We omitted yesterday to state that at the grand social anniversary celebration of the Crescent Division of the Sons of Temperance, the members had with them their wives, daughters and sweethearts. It was really pleasant, decidedly an Am-iversary occasion

☞ It is very strange that people will have any trouble in cleaning out the elevated ovens to cooking stoves, when by taking the oven or the door, and turning into it two or three pails of water it will be as clean as a whistle

☞ Thanks to Jerome & Co's Express also to Hodgman & Co's Express, for papers received last evening in advance of the mail

☞ The stage has brought along all the bags heretofore left on the way, and the mails are now up square—if any could say the same of the mails it would be delightful.

☞ Thomaston is to be divided into three separate towns.

Bird's Magic.

This great exhibition opened last night to a crowded and delighted audience. There is a mystery mingled with the beautiful in these entertainments which is not—The illusions carrying the senses captive, completely. How the wonderful effects are produced, it is not for us here to inquire. Suffice, with numerous, have recognized their beauty and their power. Our citizens will again witness the wonders of magic tomorrow afternoon. This is also their last opportunity, this evening. He will give a gentlemanly discourse for the little folks.

The postage age of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, at the time they affixed their signatures to that celebrated document, was forty-four years which was previously the age of George Washington at that time. The average age of those signers, at the periods of their deaths, was sixty-seven, and George Washington died aged sixty-seven.

HON. DANIEL WEBSTER'S SPEECH,

Concluded.

But again, we hear other bolsters, soothing, quieting tones, which quiet none of my alarms, assuage none of my fears, commend me to my nightly rest with no more imagination. It is said we may look to the popular branch of the legislature—we may look to the House of Representatives, the great majority of whom are from the North, and Middle States and we may trust them that these new States are not admitted sooner than they should be, or admitted for any party purpose I am compelled by experience to distrust all such reliance If we cannot rely on ourselves, when we have clear and unquestioned authority, competent to carry us through, I beg to know how we are to rely on others? Have we more respect for the patriotism, the firmness of others than for our own? Besides experience shows us, that things of this sort may be sprung upon Congress, and upon the people

It was so in the case of Texas It was so in the 29th Congress. The members of the 29th Congress were not chosen with the view to decide the question of annexation or no annexation They came here upon other grounds, political and party grounds, supported by their friends on one side and the other, for reasons not connected with this question What then? Why the administration sprung the question upon Congress. It obtained a snap judgement, and carried the measure of annexation That can be proved by many facts I will state one There were four gentlemen in the House of Representatives from Connecticut, elected before the question arose, belonging to the democratic party They had not been here long, before they entered into the spirit of annexation, and when this became known, remonstrances—public, private, and legislative—were uttered in sounds which any one could hear, who could hear thunder Did it move those gentlemen? Not at all Every one of them voted for annexation The election came round a few months afterwards, and they were all turned out, but what did those care for that, who had the benefit of their votes? But agencies, or if it be proper to call them instrumentalities, maintain respect no longer than they continue to be useful

Sir, we take New Mexico, and California—Who is weak enough to think there is an end? Why do we hear it avowed every day that it is proper for us also to take Sonora and Tamaulipas, and other provinces of States of northern Mexico? Who thinks that the hunger for dominion will stop here of itself? Somebody has said that this acquisition is so mean and lean and unsatisfactory, that we shall seek no further In my judgment sir, you may believe that a rapacious animal that has made one unproductive foray, won't try for a better? But further there are some things that we can argue against with temper, and submit to, if overruled, without mortification There are other things that seem to affect one's consciousness of being a reasonable man, and evince a disposition to trip us upon his common sense And of this class of traps or pretensions I have never heard of anything, and cannot conceive of anything more ridiculous to itself more abusive and more offensive to all sober judgment, than the cry that we are getting indemnity Indemnity by the acquisition of New Mexico and California! I hold them not to be worth a dollar, and we pay for them a vast sum of money—We have expended, as everybody knows, large treasures in the prosecution of the war, and now what is there to constitute indemnity?—What do gentlemen mean by it? Let us see how this matter stands

We get a country We get a country in the first instance, either by cession or acknowledgement of treaty—I care not which way you state it—the country between the Nueces and the Rio Grande What this country is appears from a publication of an honorable gentleman in the other house, in which he quotes an account given by Major Gaines. He says the country is worth nothing, that he would not hazard the life of a single individual for every foot of land from San Patricio in the valley of the Rio Grande The gentleman has been there lately, and is well acquainted with the condition of the country So far then as that part of our acquisition is concerned, I take it for granted it is not worth a dollar

Now, of New Mexico Of that forty-nine fifths at least, is a mere barren waste of desert plain or mountain There is no wood, no timber, little faggots to light a fire carried thirty or forty miles on mules There is no natural fall of rain as in temperate climates The place and scene are Asiatic—enormously high mountains, running up some to the heights of ten thousand feet, with very narrow valleys at their bases, through which streams sometimes trickle along—a gifter winds along through the thread of which runs the Rio Grande from star in the Rocky mountains down to the latitude of about thirty-three degrees, some three or four hundred miles There these 60,000 persons are In the mountains, on the right and left are streams whose natural tendencies would be all lateral streams to flow into the Rio Grande, and in certain seasons of the year, when the rains have been abundant in the mountains, some of them do actually reach the Rio Grande but the greater part of them, always—and all of them for a greater part of the year, never reach an outlet to the sea They are absorbed in the sandy and desert plains of the country There is no culture anywhere, save that which can be obtained by artificial watering or irrigation—You can have this along the narrow valley of the Rio Grande, in the gorges of the mountains where the streams are, but you cannot have it down along the course of those streams that lose themselves in the sands.

Now, sir there is no public domain in New Mexico. There is not a foot of land to be sold by the government There is not an acre that will become ours when the country becomes ours—not an acre But, more than this, the country is full of people, such as they are—There is not the least thing in it to invite the settlement of our planters or farmers There will go, I dare say, speculators, traders, some of them adventurers, tired of the good country in the valley of the Mississippi, who desire to wander, but I undertake to say there will not be two hundred farmers or planters from the United States in New Mexico in the next fifty years. They cannot live there Do you suppose they are going to cultivate lands which cannot be made productive in the slightest degree without irrigation? The people that are there produce little and live upon little I believe the characteristic of our farmers throughout the country is to produce a good deal and consume a good deal Again, New Mexico is not like Texas I had hoped, and still hope, that Texas is to be filled up by a population like ourselves—not by the Spanish race—not by peons—not by coarse, ignorant, vulgar landlords, with tribes of slaves around them, predial and otherwise

Mr Rusk—Will the honorable Senator allow me one word I did not like to interrupt the Senator when he was reading an account of the country lying in the valley of Nueces When that country comes to be known it will be found to be as valuable as any portion of Texas From its source to its mouth, the valley of the Rio Grande will be the same thing I did not choose to interrupt the honorable Senator, but we do not claim it as indemnity, believing it to be our just and equitable right So far as Mexican population is concerned, there is a good deal of it now in Texas, highly respectable and amongst them those who have distinguished themselves as patriots, men of intelligence and worth—These are coming over and settling in Texas, encouraged by the prospects of peace.

Mr. Webster—I take what I say in regard to the valley of the Rio Grande from the statement of Maj Gaines I am glad to hear there is part of it fit for the foot of civilized man. I am glad to hear also that there are some inhabitants of New Mexico, who are not so deserted with their miserable condition, as not to make some effort to get out of the country, and some join a better.

Sir, I would, if I had time, call the attention of the Senate to a very instructive speech, that was made in the other House by Mr Smith, of Connecticut. He seems to have examined all our authorities, conversed with all our travellers, corresponded with all our agents He speak contains all their communications; and I commend it to every man in the United States, who wishes to know what we are about to acquire by the acquisition of New Mexico New Mexico is secluded, isolated—a place by itself—in the middle of the mountains—five hundred miles, I believe, from Texas

Mr Rusk—Five hundred miles from the settled portion of Texas

Mr. Webster—Farther from anywhere else! It does not belong any where It has no belongings about it Sir, at this moment it is absolutely more retired, and shut out from communion with the civilized world than the Sandwich Islands, or most of the Islands of the Pacific Ocean It presses hard upon Tyre, and the people are infinitely less elevated in mind and condition than the people of the Sandwich Islands—far less worthy of our association,—far less fit to send their Senators here, than are the inhabitants of the Sandwich Islands,— and far less worthy are they than the better classes of Indians in our neighborhood Commend me to the Cherokees, the Choctaws—if you please, to speak of the Pawnees, the Blackfeet and Snake Indians, and the Flatheads—anything except the —— Indians, and I am satisfied with them, instead of the people of New Mexico—They have no notion of our institutions, or of any institutions They have any notion of popular government Why, not the slightest—not the slightest on earth And the question is asked, what will be their constitution? It is for cical to talk of such a people making a constitution They do not know the meaning of the term. They do not know its import, they know nothing at all about it And I can tell you, sir, that when we have made it a territory and wish to make it a State, such a constitution as the Executive power of this government thinks fit to send them, will be sent and adopted The constitution of our fellow citizens in New Mexico will be framed in the city of Washington,—Now what says Col Harden, in regard to New Mexico, that most lamented and distinguished officer, whom I well knew as a member of the other House, and whose death I did most deeply deplore He gives a description of New Mexico, and speaks of the people of that country in these terms

"The people are on a par with their land One in 200 or 300 is rich and lives like a nabob; the rest are peons, or servants, sold for debt, who work for their masters and are as subservient as the slaves of the South, and look like Indians, and, indeed are not more capable of self government One man, Jacobus Sanchez, owns three fourths of all the land our column has passed over in Mexico We are told we have seen the best part of Northern Mexico; if so, the whole of it is not worth much"

I need not read the whole extract He speaks of all Northern Mexico, and New Mexico is not the better part of it Sir, there is a recent traveller, who is not unfriendly to the United States, if I may judge from his work for he commends us everywhere He is an Englishman and his name is Buxton I believe his works are in the library, and I suppose that gentlemen have seen it He gives an account of the morals and manners of these people, and Mr President, and Senators, I will take leave to introduce you to these, your soon-to-be-respected fellow-citizens of New Mexico

"It is remarkable, that although existing from the earliest time of the Colonization of New Mexico, a period of two centuries, in a state of continual hostility with the numerous savage tribes of Indians which surrounded their territory, and in constant insecurity of life and property from their attacks, being also far removed from the enervating influences of large cities, and in their isolated situation entirely dependent on their own resources, the inhabitants are totally destitute of those qualities which, for the above reasons, we might naturally have expected to distinguish them, and are as deficient in energy of character and physical courage, as they are in all the moral and intellectual faculties In their social state—but one degree removed from the veriest savages, they might take lessons even from these in morality and the conventional decencies of life Imposing no restraint on their passions a shameless and universal concubinage exists and a total disregard of moral laws, to which it would be impossible to find a parallel in any country calling itself civilized A want of honorable principle and consummate duplicity and treachery characterizes all their dealings Born by nature, they are treacherous and faithless to their friends, cowardly and cringing to their enemies, cruel, as all cowards are, they unite savage ferocity with their want of animal courage, as an example of which, their recent massacre of Gov Bent and other Americans may be given—one of a hundred instances"

One out of a hundred instances, and these are soon to be our beloved countrymen

Mr President, for a good many years I have struggled to oppose every thing that I thought tended to strengthen the arm of Executive power I think it is growing more and more formidable every day, and I think that in yielding to it in this as in other instances will give it strength, which it may be hereafter very difficult to resist I think it is nothing else than fear of Executive power that commits us to the support of this war for the acquisition of territory,—fear—fear—and nothing else

In the little part which I have acted in public life, it has been my purpose to preserve the people of the United States—what the constitution was designed to make—one people—one in interest—one in character—one in political feeling When we depart from that we break it all up What sympathy can there be between these New Mexicans, these Californians, and the inhabitants of the valley of the Mississippi or of the middle States in the choice of President? Do they know the same men? Have they any general concentraneous sentiment?—Not at all An arbitrary government may have territorial governments in distant possessions, because an arbitrary government may rule its distant territories by different laws and different systems Russia may govern the Ukraine and the Caucasus and Kamschatka by different codes or ukases We can do no such thing They must be of us—part of us—or else estranged I think I see them in progress what is to disfigure and deform the constitution While these territories remain territories they will be troublesome and annoying They will draw after them a vast expense It will probably require as many troops on an average as we have been in the habit of maintaining for the last twenty years, in defending these territories from the Indian tribes We must maintain an army at that distance, and when they are States they are still more likely to give us more trouble than benefit I think I see a course adopted that is likely to turn the constitution under which we live into a deformed monster—into a curse rather than a blessing—into a great frame of unequal government, not founded on popular representation, but founded in the greatest inequalities; and, I think, if it go on—for there is danger that it will go on—that this government will be broken up I resist it to day and all days—whoever falters or whoever falls, I resist—although I see that all the portents are discouraging Would to God that I could augment good influences! Would to God that those who think with me on this subject had stronger support! Would that we could stand where we would desire to stand! But with few or alone my position is fixed If there were time, I would gladly address the country I believe the country will be awakened—it may be too late—but supported or unsupported, by the blessing of God, I shall do my duty. I see well enough all the sinister indications, but I am sustained by a deep and unmistakeable sense of duty, and while supported by that feeling of duty, and while such great interests are at stake I shall defy all bigotry, and act my opinion but my country as one!

An old lady once said that her love of a good plum was—"A man what is fearful left in clothes, don't dash an apple, kin read the Bible without spellin' the words, he'll kin set a cold theater on much day, to save the wimmin folks from cooking."

The Court of Inquiry commenced its session at the Palace, in the city of Mexico, on the 18th ult., on Gen Scott.

Gen Lane made a short speech, and spoke feelingly of his having been converted into a prisoner, struck from his high command, and having found himself the chief culprit in the accused having become the accusers.

The next day, the President expressed his real reason to investigate the charges of Gen Worth, and read a letter from Gen Worth stating that for the welfare of the service, he wished to withdraw his accusation against Gen Scott.

The Judge announced his determination to suspend the proceedings Gen Scott requested the Court to proceed in the case of Gen Duncan

It is well known that "CHLOROFORM" has superseded (in a great measure) the use of Ether, as an anodyne of pain, and is now used by the first Surgeons and Dentists in preference A celebrated Chemist (and one of the first manufacturers of Chloroform) has discovered that Chloroform with other simple ingredients, will instantly cure the TOOTHACHE After testing it in many cases it has never failed to give relief, in no one possible danger in using it, as it will not injure the sound tooth a particle All that is necessary in using these Drops, is to saturate with a bit of cotton or lint, and place it in the cavity of the tooth. Relief will be immediate.

Patent Mill Wheels.

Timbey's Patent

Two Vent Cast Iron Water Wheels,

—for—

SAW MILLS,

Invented by T. R. Timbey of Cato N. Y.

THE undersigned would invite the attention of the Public to the above named WHEELS, which have been thoroughly tested in Competition with all other popular in use at the present time, and they can confidently recommend them, with the same head and quantity of water applied, as possessing and combining more Strength and Speed, and giving a more uniform and Steady Motion than any other Wheel in use, and yet of the cut (and therefore not liable to break cranks,) and will also run longer and Saw more Lumber under a low head than any other Wheel in use.

Not the advantage which this Wheel has over others is that it is constructed with but Two Vents for the discharge of water which makes the apertures larger and allows the "drift stuff" to escape without filling up the Wheel.

Persons wishing to adopt the BEST WHEEL will do well to call and examine before purchasing elsewhere

We would also call the attention of Mill Owners and Operators to

Valentine's Patent

Reversing Centrifugal Water Wheel,

—FOR—

"UPRIGHT SHAFTS,"

WHICH are adapted for driving all kinds of Machinery in Manufacturing establishments or Mills, and are made of different sizes so as to give any amount of power required and from the reputation these Wheels have acquired by the success of operation of several hundred of them already sold and in use, we feel confident in recommending them as combining more advantages than any other Wheels, for perpendicular Shafts, now used.

Any evidence of the merits of this Wheel we would refer to the following extracts from the report of experiments made with the same by THAMAR A. BEARD, Esq., Civil Engineer—Lowell, Mass. who is well known as one of the most Scientific and experienced practical Engineers in this country.

"This wheel is formed with curved floats the number depending upon the size and vent of the Wheel, each extending so far around the Wheel, that when the water arrives at the point pressure is so far expended that it falls very nearly inert from the Wheel The Wheel is inclosed in a cylindrical wooden curb or flume, in which the water stands at its full head, the column being sustained by the stationary plate underneath the Wheel, so that it has no downward pressure upon the Wheel, which stands perfectly free in the column of water, and by this arrangement all the friction on the step and bearing of the Wheel is avoided, and so much of the power saved, which in the ordinary mode of operation is wholly lost.

"This Wheel is adapted to low as well as high heads of water, and will run as well in back water as out of it, providing the head rises in a freshet as fast as the back water But a Wheel with the jets rightly gauged for a high head will not answer for a low one, and vice versa, for as the head decreases, the width of the jets should be proportionably decreased, so that the water may not issue to waste, and not give its best effect to the Wheel

"In point of power, the trials show conclusively that the Wheel is superior to the best constructed Breast Wheels, and it has the advantage of working with good effect in situations where the Breast Wheel would be worthless, is less liable to need repairs, which are accessible when they are needed, costs much less in the outlay, is much more durable, and takes very much less room in a mill or shop—Simplicity of structure, durability of parts, convenience of application and excellence of power are the grand points of recommendation for this Wheel.

THAMAR A. BEARD, Civil Engineer."

The Great Remedy for Gonorrhoea

GLEET, Strictures and all analogous complaints, is Dr. DOUGLASS'S ARABIAN PASTE. Dr Douglass is well known, having practiced in the principal cities in the Union, during the last 40 years His only reason for introducing the Paste in this public manner, is the consciousness that there are thousands of ill treated complaints in this city—thousands of individuals who are going down to premature graves by taking the miserable drugs of quacks

Dr D. most solemnly affirms that during his practice of forty years, the Paste has never, in one single instance, failed of effecting a cure in a few days, without any change of diet or hindrance from business He has had some of the most stubborn cases—cases that have resisted the regular course of treatment adopted by our first physicians, for months and even years, but after taking the Paste for a few days, the angry symptoms disappeared, and the patients were discharged, entirely cured.

If the unfortunate, instead of drugging themselves with quack nostrums, would purchase only one box of the Arabian Paste, we should not see so many emaciated bodies and sallow countenances as we do at the present time

☞ In case this Paste should fail to effect a cure in the shortest possible time, ten times the price paid for it will be given the purchasers on returning the empty boxes.

For sale only by the original inventor and sole proprietor, Dr. PETER G DOUGLASS, at his Office, No 58 Union street, Boston, at $5 per box where he can be confidently consulted on every disease incident to the human frame, and the patient rely upon the most beneficial course of treatment that can possibly be adopted Medicines sent to any part of the country.

Permanent Cure of Dyspepsia and habitual Costiveness.

To Dr. Ralph.

DEAR SIR—I have, myself, a most no occasion for your inestimable Pills. I have used them say six years, as occasion dictated; and I have reason to suppose they have wrought a thorough and permanent change in respect to the functions of the stomach From habitual costiveness, and the voiding of nauseous and slimy stools, I am completely relieved The multitarious symptoms of Dyspepsia, with which I was once too well acquainted, have so entirely passed away, that I hardly know what they were Any use you can make of this, or a more full developement of my case, is at your service.

Except in an obstetric case, your book (Family Physician) and Pills have been the only physician in my house for six years.

There are many of my friends around, and more and cases, who call for your Pills as a family medicine, and for chronic cases. Yours truly,

Horatio Waldo

Kirkbride's Tattersall's HEAVE POWDERS:

A SAFE, SURE AND PERMANENT CURE for Heaves, Broken Wind, Chronic Cough, Colds, and all diseases which depend upon inflammation of the mucous membrane in the lungs, throat or head of the Horse, or Neat Cattle.

Soundness of the Animal's Wind,

This remedy which has been used with such remarkable success in England, is now offered to Horse owners in the United States as a positive specific for those obstinate and distressing complaints. From the combination of powerful vegetable ingredients in its composition, it is enabled to compete successfully with disease in the body constitution of the Horse, and at the same time, is warranted to be perfectly safe and genuine, is eaten greedily by Horses and other cattle, and does not as all intoxicants do, steal, or deter him from usual labor. The following is one amongst many proofs we have of its efficacy. It is from one of the best Farriers in New York, and a gentleman whose knowledge in the medical treatment of Horses is very extensive:—

New York, Nov. 1, 1847.

Messrs A H. Gough & Co:

Gentlemen—You will recollect that I bought a package of your Heave Powders some time ago to administer to a valuable horse at livery in my stables, and that I was quite desirous of the wisdom of attempting to cure such a bad case as his was, and did not, in fact believe there were any medicines better for him compliant than those. I had been in the habit of giving during my extensive practice with Horses. But justice to yourself your valuable remedy, requires me to say, that that single package cured the animal of so aggravated a case of Heaves as I have said, and he is sound to now perfectly good. I believe the cure is permanent one.

Respectfully, ED FLOYD, 102 Laurence-st.

Messrs A H Gough & Co—Gentlemen: I bought, about six weeks ago, a package of Heave Powders to administer to a whose horse, who had been troubled with Heaves for one or two years. He case was a very bad one, and so severe as to incapacitate him from half his usual labor, and had resisted all the remedies ordinarily used for the disorder, the last one effected to eight or ten finish the violence of the wheezing while taking the medicine, but that package of your remedy has completely eradicated the disease, and now his wind is as good as ever it was. It is a death stroke has taken the Heaves, and I can with truth recommend it.

Respectfully, GEO W DAVIS, Merrion, Middlesex Co., N J.

GREAT CONDITION MEDICINE

Besides their specific action upon diseases of the lungs and windpipe, the Tattersall's Heave Powders, from their great alterative and emollient properties, are so effective in horses as a specific purgative to free the blood and system from all impurities of the blood and predisposition to disease. Many cases of Founder have been prevented and speedily a few doses of the Heave Powders, when blown into the feed that they relieve to the bowel usual after other drastic purgatives to indolent weather. They are warranted to cure the worst cough in a few days, and wholly eradicate a recent cold by the use of two doses. Neither contain medicine they are unequalled, unrivaled when a light hair, strong coat, loss of appetite, etc, denote a derangement of the digestive functions, or presence of worms in the alimentary canal, is discernable to the following certificate:

Messrs A H Gough & Co—I bought a package of your Heave Powders that I bought of you for my horse's cough, has entirely cured him, but to a different way than I expected. The first dose of Expectorant Powder that I administered brought away an immense number of worms from him, and I believe they were the principal cause of his cough rough coat, etc, which he exhibited, for that package has entirely cured him, his appetite is good, and he is now in prime condition. I cheerfully recommend your Heave Powders for Worms as well as heaves. Yours, SAMUEL ROBERTS

East Haddam, Ct., Oct 26, 1847.

☞ CAUTION. As several imitations of this valuable and popular remedy are abroad being put up under the name of "Heave Powders," "Heave Compound," etc., persons are cautioned against purchasing, and unless remedy bat Kirkbride's Tattersall's Heave Powders.

No Stable should be without this potent preservative. Price $1 per package of sufficient in cure in ordinary cases, 5 for 5 dolls.

HOUSE-KEEPERS should be sure and examine this superior Stove, which has won the admiration of several thousand house keepers the past season. It has more real and useful improvements than all others combined. The fire-brick Oven-top has proved to be great value in absorbing the steam and causing the bread to rise and bake light, equal to the brick oven. The Bake Pan is found to be more durable than the iron top. It also equalizes the heat around the oven, and a much more even bake is produced in this stove than any other stove known. It has a most perfect arrangement for roasting in front. The Summer arrangement for broiling, boiling, toasting, &c., is complete. The grate clears itself, discharging the ashes into the ash pit. The flues are large, and so arranged as not to fill up with ashes. It is surprising to see how small an amount of fuel it requires to perform so great a variety of cooking. DR. CUMMINGS'S
Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla and Dock.

THE articles above named are the principal ingredients of this medicine. With these others of vegetable origin are combined, designed to render them more active, and consequently more immediately effective.

The Dock, or rather a species of it, now ranks as a medicinal plant, second to no one of the vegetable kingdom. With the aid of a distinguished chemist, whom the proprietor has consulted in the preparation of the compound, he has succeeded in overcome the difficulty of preserving the extract of the root for any considerable length of time.

For many years the proprietor has tested in his practice the efficacy of the principal substances of the compound, and is perfectly satisfied that they possess all the properties which have been ascribed to them. Recently he conceived the idea of uniting them, which has resulted in the production of the compound. In this the ingredients are found to act in harmony, and to lose some of the qualities which they separately possess.

A larger portion of Sarsaparilla is soluble than has generally been supposed. The extract need to be relied on, and least liable to decomposition, is procured by subjecting the root in the action of the menstrua usually employed for extracting tannin, for a long time. Without heat, or any other operation. None is permitted to be used in the compound, that has not been obtained by this process and that has been less than a year in preparation.

The Compound is recommended for Scrofula, Erysipelas, Cutaneous affections, Eruptions, and Mercurial diseases. Also for the numerous disorders arising from sedentary employments, occupations of a harassing and fatiguing nature, intense application, exposures to extremes of heat and cold, overtasking the physical powers, and other abuses of the constitution: among which are Neuralgia, Piles, Affections of the Liver, Bilious Complaints, and Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

In diseases of warm climates, with which the proprietor become familiar in his practice in Havana, some years since, the compound will prove particularly efficacious, both as a remedy and a preventative.

This medicine has been for some time in use in this city, where the proprietor has passed nearly half a century of his professional life. It was extensively prescribed by him while in practice, and it is believed to be in favor with his medical brethren in general, to whom he is known.

Prepared only by Dr Stephen Cummings, and sold at wholesale and retail by Joshua Burgin & Co, No 143 Middle street, and Edward Mason, No 165 Middle street—only agents for Portland.

Sold in Bangor by G. W. LADD and JOSEPH S INGRAHAM.

GREAT SUCCESS OF UPHAM'S FILE ELECTUARY.

Portland, Me., March 4, 1847.

Dr. Upham—My dear Sir—I cannot express to you my sincere and heartfelt thanks for the wonderful cure I have received from the use of your truly valuable File Electuary. I have been a perfect martyr to the bleeding Piles for 10 years past, so much so that I became reduced to almost a skeleton, with loss of appetite, nervous debility, and derangement of the digestive organs. My disease also became affected, and in fact I was a nile only to myself. I was obliged to give up my business I had tried all kinds of medicine, had the best advice, the Doctors in Boston and elsewhere pronounced it incurable, and I had spent much money—and twice submitted to painful operations. I had become perfectly tired of life, and at the suggestion of my friends I was induced to try a box of your medicine. The first dose found to relieve me slightly, still I persevered, and purchased a second, and I assure you, when I got half through, I found myself getting well; still I kept on, and now I am a sound and active man, and can again attend to business. My dear Sir, language cannot express the heartfelt thanks that I can once more restored to health, and now in a condition to support my large family, dependent on me.

You can use this letter as you please.

Yours respectfully, SAMUEL CHAMPION.

Dr. Townsend's SARSAPARILLA,
THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

This extract is put up in quart bottles; is six times cheaper, pleasanter, and warranted superior to any sold. It cures diseases without vomiting, purging, sickening or debilitating the patient.

The great beauty and superiority of this Sarsaparilla over all other medicines, which eradicates diseases it invigorates the body. It is one of the very best Fall and Winter medicines ever known; it not only purifies the whole system and strengthens the person, but it creates new and healthy blood, a power possessed by no other medicine. And on this has the grand secret of its wonderful success. It has performed within the past two years, more than 25,000 cures of severe cases of disease, at least 20,000 of these were considered incurable.

More than 3000 cases of Chronic Rheumatism,
2000 cases of Dyspepsia,
4000 cases of General Debility and Want of Energy,
7000 cases of the different Female Complaints,
2036 cases of Scrofula,
1500 cases of the Liver Complaint,
2500 cases of Diseases of the Kidneys and Dropsy,
8000 cases of Consumption;

and thousands of cases of diseases of the blood, viz:—Ulcers, eruptions, tetter, tumors, pimples on the face, &c., together with numerous cases of rheumatism, pain in the side and chest, spinal affections, &c. &c.

This, we are aware, must appear incredible, but we have letters from physicians and our agents from all parts of the United States, informing of extraordinary cures. R. VAN BUSKIRK, Esq., one of the most respectable druggists in Newark, N. J., informs us that he can refer to more than 150 cases in just place alone. There are thousands of cases in the City of New York which we will refer to with pleasure, and to men of character. It is the best medicine for the preventative of disease known. It undoubtedly saved the lives of more than

and removed the cause of disease, and prepared them for the spring season. It has never been known to injure in the least the most delicate child.

RHEUMATISM

This Sarsaparilla is used with the most perfect success in Rheumatic complaints, however severe or chronic. The astonishing cures it has performed are indeed wonderful. Other remedies sometimes give temporary relief, but entirely eradicate it from the system, even when the limbs and joints are painfully swollen.

☞ Hear Mr. Seth Terry, one of the oldest and most respectable lawyers in Hartford, Conn. The following is an extract of a letter received from him:

Dr. Townsend—I have used one bottle of your Sarsaparilla, and I find it is excellent to the effects upon a chronic rheumatic pain to which I am subject, from an injury occasioned several years ago in a public stage. Please send me two bottles to the care of Dr. Seymour. I have conversed with two of our principal physicians and recommended your Sarsaparilla. SETH TERRY.

Hartford, March 1v, 1846.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

Cleanse and Strengthen Consumption can be cured. Bronchitis Consumption, Lung Complaint, Colds, Catarrh, Coughs, Asthma, Spitting of Blood, Soreness in the Chest, Hectic Flush, Night Sweats, Difficult or Profuse Expectoration, Pain in the Side, &c., have been and can be cured.

Dr. Townsend—Dear Sir—Nearly twenty years ago I took a violent cold, which settled on my lungs, and effected me savagely, indeed, finally it became a constant hacking cough, so that we were up to prevent me from attending to my business. Within the last few years it increased on me gradually. At last I became reduced—I breathe with difficulty, and raised with my cough much bad matter, and for the last nine months previous to using your Sarsaparilla, had sign for night sweats; indeed, my friends and myself supposed that I would die with the Consumption, but I have the happiness to inform you that, to my surprise, after using three bottles of your Sarsaparilla, I find my health restored. It relieved me gradually, and I am now enjoying much better health than I have before in 20 years. I find also that I enjoy my appetite, which is also returned. You are at liberty to publish this with my name in the papers, if you choose.

My little girl, who is three years old, had a very bad cough the whole of last Winter. We became very much alarmed on her account. While using the medicine I gave her some of it, and it soon entirely relieved her, as well as myself, and she is well now, and healthy as any child I ever saw. She was also full of little blotches, it took them away, and her skin is smooth and fair now; and I am satisfied she recovered her health from using your excellent medicine.

G. W. CONANT, 444 Bowery.

GIRLS, READ THIS.

You who have pale complexions, dull eyes, blotches on the face, rough skin, and are "out of spirits," use a bottle or two of Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla. It will cleanse your blood, remove the freckles and blotches, and give you animation, sparkling eyes, fine spirits, and beautiful complexion—all of which are of immense value to unmarried ladies.

GREAT PENALME MEDICINE

Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla is a successful and speedy cure for incipient Consumption, Barrenness, Leucorrhœa, or Whites, distracted or difficult Menstruation, Incontinence of Urine, or involuntary discharge thereof, and for the general prostration of the system—no matter whether the result of inherent causes or causes produced by irregularity, illness or accident.

Nothing can be more surprising than its invigorating effect. Many of the ailing females are unable to walk, nurses and fatigues, from taking it, at once become robust and full of energy under its influence. It immediately rouses in the languishing of the female frame, which is the very essence of life.

At will not be expected of us, in cases of so delicate a nature, to exhibit certificates of cures performed, but we can assure the afflicted that hundreds of cases have been reported to us, of females in the Eastern States who have been without children after using a few bottles of this invaluable medicine have been blessed with a healthy offspring.

Dr. Townsend: My wife being greatly distressed by weakness and general debility, and suffering continually by pain and sensation of bearing down, falling of the womb, and with other difficulties, and having spent much time and money without relief, your medicine has effected great cures, and also bearing is recommended for such cases as I have described. I obtained a bottle of your Extract of Sarsaparilla, and followed the directions as you gave me, in a short period we were amazed at her health and restored her to health. Being grateful for the benefits she received, I take pleasure in thus acknowledging it and recommending it to the public. M. D. MOORE.

Albany, Dec. 17, 1847. Cut round and use it.

TO MOTHERS AND MARRIED LADIES.

This extract of Sarsaparilla is has been expressly prepared in reference to female complaints. No female who has reason to suppose she is pregnant, or that critical period, "the turn of life," should neglect to take it, as it is a certain preventative for any of the numerous and horrible diseases to which females are subject at that period of life. It is many times by delayed for several years by using this medicine. Nor is it less valuable to those who are approaching women hood, as it is calculated to assist nature by quickening the blood and invigorating the system. Indeed this medicine is invaluable for all of the delicate diseases to which women are subject. It erases the whole system, takes away pain, restores natural energies—by removing the impurities of the body, and so far strengthening the system as to produce a subsequent relaxation—which is the cause of most medicines taken for female weakness and disease.

SCROFULA CURED.

This Certificate conclusively proves that this Sarsaparilla has perfect control of the most obstinate diseases of the blood. These persons cured in one bottle is unprecedented.

THREE CHILDREN.

Dr. Townsend: Dear Sir—I have the pleasure to inform you that three of my children have cured of the Scrofula by the use of your excellent medicine. They were afflicted very severely with bad sores, have taken some four bottles, it took them away, for which I feel myself under deep obligation. Yours respectfully,

ISAAC W. CRAIN, 106 Wooster-st.

New York, March 1, 1847.

RAHWAY, Jan 25, 1847.
